NEWS SUMMARY.

Cotton closed in Liverpool quiet; upland 11 1/2, Orleans 12 1/2.
 In New York cotton closed firm; sales 2100 bales, 384.
 Gold closed in New York at 38 1/2, having touched 39.
 Felt keeps her husband in good order. She don't allow him to take a single train, or even to look on at play during their Prussian tour.

As the gossip cannot marry Nelson to the Duke de Masses, they now name a young Russian count, very rich and very deaf, as the happy man.

Mrs. Felgrin Kink has been appointed as a regular clerk in the office of the superintendent of the postal money system. She was removed some time ago, but Postmaster-General Croswell has reinstated her.

The New York Times says: "General Lee is a representative man of Virginia, and it was wise in the President to obtain his judgment regarding a scheme which must meet the approval of the people of the State."

Bullock, of Georgia, is very loose with his pardons. The story is told of two cases, one of murder and the other of theft, in which the accused, when arraigned before the court, produced pardons in advance of conviction!

A strong performer in Illinois broke his back while practicing the other day, and the same scene ensued of a clergyman performing the last offices of religion by the side of a dying man in tight and spangles, stretched on the sawdust of the ring.

John Bright, though now a minister, continues to be a reformer. He delivered a speech in Parliament in favor of repealing the prohibition to marry a deceased wife's sister. The bill was carried by the large majority of ninety-nine. The Solicitor-General, Mr. O'Connell, was the only prominent Liberal who spoke against the bill.

The English Tories are holding meetings to protest against the Irish Disestablishment bill, and to demand its rejection by the House of Lords. But the Tories are overwhelming in number at the Parliamentary elections, and it is useless for them to now attempt to bolster up the "Lost Cause." Even the Tories cannot save them, but must submit to the demands of the people.

A dispatch from Washington to the New York Tribune says: "The Associated Press dispatch relating to the Republican Congress of Cuba, declaring for annexation is discredited here. It is known that there is a strong party among the patriots in favor of independence, and that, by general consent, the idea of annexation has not been considered an open question. Cuban agents here have universally affirmed that the object of the revolution was to effect the separation from Spain, leaving the annexation project to settle itself when the island was free. There has been no commitment of a belief that Cuban independence would, in any way, be a hindrance to the Cuban Republic. The great effort of the patriots has been to prevent the agitation of this subject. Quences, reported election general-in-chief, is an avowed annexationist after independence has been secured. Cooper has been placed at the head of the republican government. Advice received by was of Florida indicate the safe arrival within the patriot lines of a vessel from New York loaded with arms and munitions. It is supposed to be the 'Grasshopper'."

An intensely religious service, commemorative of the "Gift of the Holy Cross," was performed at Christ Church, New York, on Monday. The church was dark with the exception of the altar and chancel, which were brilliantly illuminated with gas and wax candles. Four lofty wax candles lighted up the altar and a cross above it. As the service opened with a voluntary and chant, a procession of the choir, clergy, officers and fellows of the Guild, preceded by a little boy bearing a cross, entered from the vestry, clad in gowns and surplices of black, red and blue, trimmed with white, gray and red and a white cross on the breast. The procession passed down the side and up the middle aisle, the members of the Guild occupying the centre pews. The service was as follows: The Litany; a voluntary on the organ; a second procession of priests in gorgeous vestments, preceded by the cross and two wax candles carried by little boys; the communion service; the Commandments intoned and responded to by the choir; the Epistle of the day; a hymn; the Gospel of the day, chanted by a priest; the Offertory; communion service and administration of the sacrament in the following order: The clergy; the choir; the officers and fellows of the Guild, vested and unveiled; the religious; the men; the women. An address by one of the clergy was followed by a hymn, which closed the services.

The New York correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, writing on Tuesday, refers to the reported sailing of an expedition from that port for Cuba: "An expedition for Cuba, numbering one hundred picked men, left this port at three o'clock this afternoon, in a coasting steamer, which is known to have been quietly taking on board a large quantity of arms and ammunition, at the foot of Christopher-street, North River, during the past week or ten days. Each man is provided with a rifle and uniform. The report is that the expedition is the handiwork of the Cuban Junta in this city. The United States marshal was notified of these facts this morning. He telegraphed them at once to Secretary Fish, and asked for instructions, but with what result cannot be ascertained at this writing. As far as I can ascertain, there are but ten Americans among the party, all the rest being Cubans, with the exception of six negroes. Their destination is Dead Man's Island, one of the Florida Keys, and after debarking there, it is their intention to make for the Cuban coast in small boats. The voyage, it is said, can be made in four hours. The whole number of rifles on board is said to be about five hundred. The stern of the steamer was covered up with canvas as long as she laid at the Christopher-street wharf, so that her name was not visible to the public gaze. The news of the departure of the expedition creates a lively sensation about town. Many are apprehensive that it will be overhauled by some of the numerous Spanish men-of-war in the Gulf before it reaches its objective point. It is said that the United States authorities here have winked at some of the marshal's deputies; but whether this allegation is just or otherwise, time and inquiry will show. Meanwhile, the organ of the Junta, La Revolution, is out in a very bitter article with reference to the policy of the United States."

The New York Commercial Advertiser says that a proposition for the relief of the Americans suffering by the depredations of the Alabama and other Anglo-Confederate privateers is now receiving the careful consideration of the President, the members of the Cabinet and leading Congressmen. It involves the passage of a law at the commencement of the session of Congress, in December next, authorizing the appointment of a commission to audit and pass upon all American claims against England for damages sustained by violation or evasion of the neutrality laws during the recent civil war. The United States Government will then assume these claims, and present them in a single item in the account against Great Britain with a demand for immediate restitution. In case of a refusal, ultior measures will be adopted which it is believed will be backed by the entire American people. This course is calculated to obviate the almost interminable delays which usually attend the settlement of claims against foreign governments. Many of the Alabama claimants are poor, and according to precedent, many of them may be reduced to bankruptcy or death, before their just claims can be settled. The President is known to fully recognize their claims to the protection of the government, and is anxious to present the matter in a tangible shape to the British authorities. These views are also shared by General Sherman.

CHARLESTON.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 8, 1869.

The May Elections.

Under the proclamation of Governor Scott, dated April 19, 1869, the following elections of county officers will take place on May 25th:

In the County of Abbeville, two county commissioners and a coroner.
 In the County of Anderson, a school commissioner and a coroner.
 In the County of Barnwell, a county commissioner and a school commissioner.
 In the County of Chester, a coroner.
 In the County of Chesterfield, a coroner.
 In the County of Colleton, a judge of the probate court and a coroner.
 In the County of Darlington, a clerk of the court of common pleas and a coroner.
 In the County of Edgefield, a coroner.
 In the County of Fairfield, a judge of the probate court, a coroner and a county commissioner.
 In the County of Georgetown, two county commissioners and a coroner.
 In the County of Horry, a county commissioner and a coroner.
 In the County of Laurens, a school commissioner and a coroner.
 In the County of Lexington, a county commissioner and a coroner.
 In the County of Orangeburg, a school commissioner and a coroner.
 In the County of Oconee, a coroner.
 In the County of Pickens, a coroner.
 In the County of Richland, a school commissioner and a coroner.
 In the County of Sumter, a coroner.
 In the County of Union, a coroner.
 In the County of York, a county commissioner and a coroner.

These offices are important, because of the powers entrusted to the persons who hold them, in matters of education and county taxation. Upon the way in which these offices are filled will depend, in a great degree, whether our local affairs are conducted with the view of securing the most benefit at the least cost, or for the purpose of stirring up antagonism of race and filling the pockets of officials. Strictly speaking, there is no political question involved in the elections. Intelligence, honesty and respectability are the only qualifications which should be demanded of the candidates, and the men who possess them should be supported by Democrat and Republican alike. The Radicals may, as usual, crack their whip and denounce every candidate who is not black in the face or black in the heart. If they do this, the attempt should still be made to show their poor dupes that it is to their interest to have every public office filled by capable and trustworthy persons. This may fail, and a severe stand-up fight for the election of the best men will be the only resource, as it is certainly the simplest.

Let us now drive the entering wedge. Let us prove that we are resolved to have a word to say when our money is to be spent and our property taxed. Let us show Radicalism that henceforth no office, however small, shall fall into the hands of ignorance and vice without a hard and persistent struggle. By persevering, by seizing every opportunity of electing a good officer in the place of a bad one, we can, in the course of the next two years, revolutionize the whole State and local government. This can be done. It is an object worth striving for, and the first step to be made is in carrying the May elections.

Forney on Figures.

Forney says of Governor Scott, of this State: "The bonds that were selling at 28 cents on the dollar, when he took possession, are now worth from 50 to 57." The truth is that old State bonds were 65 to 67 on the day of Scott's inauguration, and were quoted yesterday at 74, which is about 30 per cent. less than their value when the State government was in responsible hands. Forney says of the late lamented Mayor Clark: "The city debt of Charleston was five millions when the present Mayor was elected, and his securities have risen from 33 to 68." This also is wide of the mark; for the price of city stock when Mayor Clark was inaugurated was 46 to 48.

The First Number of "The Working Christian."

The first number of "The Working Christian," a weekly religious paper, will be issued on July 1st. This paper will be published at Yorkville, and edited by T. M. R. Gaines. Subscription $2 50 per annum.

OUR Aiken correspondent is informed that according to the proclamation of Governor Scott, one school commissioner and one county commissioner for Barnwell County will be elected on the 25th May.

Gold for Cotton.

We print, this morning, an article on the subject of the movement originated in Mobile, to demand payment in gold for all cotton hereafter sold in the South. The subject is one—as the writer well says—of the gravest consequence to our people, and we trust that it will be pondered and discussed in all its bearings by those who give it their approval. Our columns will, as far as possible, be thrown open for this purpose.

The Western Grain Trade.

The West is in a ferment just now over the question whether wheat shall be carried from St. Louis down the Mississippi and thence by sea to Europe and New York, or sent by rail and canal via Chicago and Buffalo to New York. The St. Louis merchants have it very much at heart to rival or surpass Chicago as a shipping point for grain, and they figure out that they can move it to New Orleans for less than 10 cents a bushel, whereas it costs 32 1/2 cents per bushel to move it from Chicago to New York. Therefore they argue they can afford to pay the difference between 10 cents and 32 1/2 cents for grain, and thus divert it altogether from its present channel to New York via Chicago. New York, however, is enlisted with Chicago in having the grain seek its market by the present route, and the New Yorkers are debating how to cheapen transportation, so as to compete with the Mississippi line. Some of the New York papers seem inclined in the emergency to favor the Russian idea that no railroad or canal should ever declare dividends, but that these means of transportation should be controlled by government so that consumers need pay no more than the bare cost of carrying products from one part of the country to another. There certainly seems to be something wrong in the fact, that one-third of the price of wheat should be consumed in getting it to market.

Reviews.

Two LIFE PATHS: By L. Muhlbach. New York: D. Appleton & Co. Charleston: John Russell. Price 60 cents.
 This book is built upon what is familiarly known as the New York Ledger plan, except that virtue is not rewarded, nor vice satisfactorily punished. There are two heroines. No. 1 is a living lie and cheat and prospers amazingly. No. 2 leads a life of agony and moral martyrdom, and in the end is so overcome by the consciousness that right cannot make its way in this wicked world of sin, that her only resource is unmitigated suicide. Miss Muhlbach's stories of King and Kaiser are dreary enough, but they are more amusing than this compound of twaddle, bathos and hackneyed sensation.

YOU OUGHT TO INSURE IN THE

CHARLESTON BRANCH

LIFE ASSOCIATION OF AMERICA.

FOR THE FOLLOWING REASONS:

1st. Because it is a home-institution managed and controlled by our own citizens.
 2d. Because it is the only mutual institution of the kind that has its funds in the State from which they are derived.
 3d. Because it is purely mutual; it policy holders share in its profits or earnings. Its large and increasing assets being exclusively its policy holders.
 4th. Because its rates are not more than those of most other companies, and its dividends will be larger.
 5th. Because it invests its funds at rates of interest ranging from ten per cent. to Eastern companies' rates average less than seven per cent. This makes the dividends of the association larger and the rates of premium smaller. One hundred dollars improved at six per cent for fifty years will amount to $1,849 06. The same amount invested at ten per cent will produce $11,709 06. Difference in favor of the ten per cent investment $10,860 00.
 6th. Because you ought to insure in a successful institution, and the Life Association of America is acknowledged by its earnings, as well as its friends to be by far the most successful life insurance institution of its age in the United States.
 NET ASSETS OF THIS DEPARTMENT INVESTED IN THIS COMMUNITY.
 $100,000 deposited in the Insurance Department of the State of South Carolina according to law for the protection of policy holders.
